CRCC Issues 2008 Salary Report: An Update on Salaries in the Rehabilitation Counseling Profession

In May 2007, the Commission on Rehabilitation Counselor Certification (CRCC) conducted constituent research among 1,220 Certified Rehabilitation Counselors. An important component of this research was collecting salary information. To maintain the validity of the data, research was carried out by an independent agency and then analyzed by a separate, independent 3rd party statistician.

The resulting 2008 Salary Report provides valuable insights and is a resource in helping to assess how individual compensation compares across fellow Certified Rehabilitation Counselors. Areas addressed include salary by demographics, disability, education, work setting, and length of time in the rehabilitation counseling profession.

The 2008 Salary Report is also available on the CRCC website, News & Events page, or www.crc certification.com/pages/news_events/117.php

“We thank the 1,220 Certified Rehabilitation Counselors who took the time and effort to respond to this survey. Your input helps us better understand the dynamics of our profession as we strive to:

- advance quality rehabilitation services via certification;
- advocate on behalf of our profession; and,
- lead the effort for continued growth in the field of rehabilitation counseling.”
